CRABBE'S OFFICE PLEDGES AID IN CANTON PROBE

Suggests Attorney General Appoint Special Prosecutor To Handle Grand Jury

M'CLINTOCK HITS ROACH

Report Police Chief Lengel Will Fight Dismissal by Mayor Swarts

Canton Aug 24—Throwing the evidence into federal jurisdiction of the Don R Mellett murder Mrs Florence Mellett widow of the slain Canton newspaper editor will file a $100 000 damage suit in Cleveland Federal Court this afternoon against Louis Mazer 'Pat' McDermutt and a resident of Massillon Ohio alleged conspirators in the killing of her husband it was learned exclusively today by International News Service

Columbus Aug 24—Pledging the cooperation of the attorney generals office and placing at the disposal of Stark County officials all the facilities of that department but pointing out that should Attorney General Crabbe appoint a special prosecutor to handle the grand jury probe into alleged vice conditions in Canton Prosecutor McClintock and his assistant would need to step out of the work H H Griswold assistant to Crabbe today addressed a letter to McClintock

Griswolds letter followed a conference last week end with Henry Harter Jr McClintocks first assistant at Cleveland and a close study of the law pertaining to the appointment of special prosecutors

McClintock has asked the attorney general to appoint J A White former head of the Anti Saloon League as special assistant Crabbe has taken no action as yet

Canton Aug 24—Declaring that he would not be coerced or intimidated by anyone and that he would prosecute the grand jury investigation of the murder of Don R Mellett Canton publisher fearlessly and courageously Prosecutor C B McClintock today in a formal statement fired back at Joseph R Roach Chicago lawyer investigator for the Hearsts attack on McClintocks conduct of the case

McClintock asserted he would remain prosecutor until the expiration of his term and that in the grand jury investigation of the Mellett murder which begins tomorrow anyone who has any information will be given the opportunity to tell what they know about this case before the grand jury which will be permitted to act upon the facts of this case without any interference on my part

Refers to Charges

I have kept quiet and allowed Roach day after day to attack me McClintock said This I will no longer do without firing back I lived in Canton before Roach came and will be living in Canton when he is gone

Referring to Roachs charge that he had called before the county grand jury several witnesses wanted by the federal authorities in connection with the liquor conspiracy investigation McClintock said U S Attorney Bernstein suggested to him that they be called before the county grand jury

Roach maintains that Bernstein did not know these witnesses were to be called before the county grand jury

McClintock declared he would continue to co-operate with the federal authorities in securing evidence in the conspiracy case The prosecutor said that Don Mellett had been his personal

Thousands Gather in Front of Funeral Home; Valentino's Body in Gold Room

NEW YORK Aug 24—While funeral plans were being held in abeyance awaiting word from relatives the body of Rudolph Valentino famous screen star lay in the gold room in Campbell's Funeral Parlor today—the famous funeral chapel on Broadway

It was in this chamber that Anna Held Lillian Russell Oscar Hammerstein Olive Thomas Nat Goodwin Vernon Castle and other celebrities of the stage and screen lay in death

This morning found a large crowd gathered in front of the funeral church In hushed tones they discussed the tragic death of the famous screen star who died yesterday afternoon after a courageous fight to recover from the effects of an operation for acute appendicitis and gastric ulcers

They peered into spectral gloom behind the huge plate glass windows as the first touch of pallid sunlight gave way to the warmer hues of the morning

"What a Pity!"

The crowd increased as the early morning wore on and life began to flow like a torrent on Broadway—the Broadway Valentino knew so well and the Broadway that knew and loved Valentino Little bobbed haired flappers to whom Valentino on the screen represented fashion idealized romance paused with bated breath and half choked sobs The body may lie in state this afternoon according to word at the funeral home who said are not fully decided on the course

At any rate it can be safely asserted by those who have spoken for the family if their decisions be close friends may see it after that But even this is uncertain

Await Relatives Word

Friends of Valentino are trying to communicate with the relatives and next of kin of Valentino Before any definite arrangements are made They expect instructions from Valentinos brother Alberto Guglielmo who is in Paris

Valentinos friends including his manager S George Ullman hope

NEW INDUSTRY IN OPERATION WITH 50 MEN

Alloy Cast Steel Co. Marion's Newest Concern Starts Production

First steel of Marion's new industry the Alloy Cast Steel Co was turned out yesterday afternoon in the hastily renovated shops formerly occupied by the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co

The scrap iron was melted and was made in steel in one of the most modern furnaces found in any foundry of the country The furnace is entirely electrical and is controlled by an automatic switchboard

More than 3 000 volts of electricity leads into the plant Three transformers with a capacity of 5 000 volts each reduces the voltage and hold a charge of 110 volts of electricity passing into the furnace

Melt Six Tons Iron

About six tons of scrap iron was melted in the furnace on its trial yesterday The temperature necessary to melt this metal is approximately 3 000 degrees

The melter or the foreman in charge of the furnace must be an experienced man As the housewife mixes and prepares her cake for the oven so must the melter mix his metal to a good grade of steel

By sight he must be able to recognize in a sample or test of the metal the ingredient to be added to bring it up to the standard At times it is necessary for him to add to the molten mass a portion of manganese or silicon and often a piece of ordinary pig iron is placed in the metal to bring the result

After filling the bowl with the scrap iron the furnace is kept at a high temperature until ready to be poured into

Dove of Peace in Sight as Parties Hold State Meets

Eight Hundred Democrats and Republicans Gather in Columbus for Conventions; Donahey Scores Alleged Excessive Expenditures in Recent Pre-Primary Campaigns

Columbus Aug 24—Alleged excessive expenditures in the recent republican pre primary campaign for United States senator in Pennsylvania and Illinois were scored here late this afternoon by Governor Vic Donahey democratic candidate for a third term and Attorney Thomas J Duffy of Columbus who as chairman delivered the keynote speech at the democratic state platform convention

With the dove of peace hovering over her head and a fight being in sight 800 democrats and republicans gathered here today for their state conventions

Committees began functioning this morning thanks were being given by the platform and resolutions committees delegates assembled in groups for discussion of district affairs and the speakers were awaiting the moment to rise and the platforms to fire the opening guns in the November election

To Make Reports

The democratic convention opened at 10 o'clock with the caucusing of delegates by congressional districts Each district elected its representative on the credentials permanent organization rules and order of business and platform and resolutions committees

Those chosen immediately went into session and were to present their reports at the afternoon session

The republicans did not get started until this afternoon The delegates met in caucus at 2 o'clock They were to gather in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium for the general open session at 4 o'clock

There was much talk in the Republican Hoe Club luncheon by Rev J N Brady of Ada Ohio and the introduction by State Chairman Fred Warner, of Marion of Senator Simeon D Fess of Yellow Springs who wounded the keynote After reports of committees Mrs Dwight L Peterson of Toledo was introduced and she spoke at length Addresses by Myers Y Cooper Cincinnati successful nominee for governor and Senator Frank B Willis of Delaware followed

Former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene Cleveland now Ohios democratic candidate for the same position, is scheduled to address the democratic convention late this afternoon Both Donahey and Duffy accused Ohio republican legislators and corporation lobbyists with preventing Donahey from appointing successors to members of various important state commissions who were chosen by former Governor Harry L Davis republican

G O P leaders were blamed by Duffy and Donahey for the present shortage of funds in the state treasury

Says Government Menaced

Declaring that popular government was never so menaced by indifference as it is today Duffy called upon the voters to reassert belief that liberty and democracy are indispensable to a peoples welfare

Branding vote buyers and vote sellers as despicable traitors Duffy scored the record expenditure of $3 000 000 in Pennsylvania and more than $1 000 000 in Illinois during primary campaigns for nominations of republican candidates for U S senator

American people could do nothing more wholesome for the public welfare and the nations honor than to elect Democrats to national and state offices throughout the country next November and thereby rebuke the bootleggers and gangsters who brought this disgrace upon the nation declared Duffy

Defending vigorously the Ohio workers and organization act Duffy asserted that, Under each republican administration

ROTARY ROAD FUND PLAN OF COMMISSIONERS

Project Designed To Finance Improvements on County Highways

A 'rotary road fund' for the financing of county highway improvements is included in the tax budget plans of the board of commissioners for next year The idea is one which has been successfully used in other Ohio counties and has been highly recommended for adoption here

The fund is designed for use in connection with road work for which special assessments are levied The cost of the improvement is defrayed through bonds upon the county fund, which is later reimbursed when assessments are collected In this way the necessity of issuing bonds is eliminated, resulting in a saving which, in Marion County, would probably amount to $2,000 annually Added benefits would result from the simplifying and expediting of road financing the commissioners say

It is proposed to make small annual tax levies for a period of four or five years until a fund sufficiently large has been accumulated After that operation of the 'rotary' feature would make further levies unnecessary.

FORCE OF 30 MEN AT WORK ON CITY STREETS

Service Director O A Benedict Hopes To Complete Repairs by Fall

A force of approximately 30 men is at work on street repair work through out the city under the direction of Service Director O A Benedict who plans to have all the most important construction projects completed before unfavorable fall weather conditions prevail

An important feature of the repair program as the work being done on unpaved streets There are 80 miles of these unimproved thoroughfares in the city and the service director says that it is important to have them shaped up for fall and winter use Otherwise many of them become virtually impassable during seasons of inclement weather

The cost of all streets repairs is paid with the money received from collection of the state gasoline tax Marion's share of this revenue for this year is estimated at $40 000

A newspaper picture of the "world's best-dressed woman," a resident of Nashville, Tennessee, now holding the center of the stage at Deauville, indicates that she seems also to be making a bid for distinction as the "least dressed," although her attire appears to be in conformity with the general average on display in Marion and elsewhere.

People unable to keep their heads at all times can hardly expect to be headliners in their respective lines of endeavor.

While there is considerable satisfaction gained from winning a heated argument you can usually count on one friend less as a consequence of the victory.

A wife may apparently have no grounds for being jealous but occasionally there is one who has no other way of attracting friend husband's attention.

A magazine published in England has been barred from America because it prints liquor advertisements so that the next anti-prohibition development is likely to be the bootlegging of literature.

Earl Carroll, filing an appeal petition in connection with his conviction in the memorable "bathtub case," lists forty alleged errors in the conduct of his trial but probably is convinced that his mistake in staging the objectionable party far overshadows all of the forty.

We are told that Europe will eventually learn its lesson in the school of folly and profit thereby, which will be all right provided Uncle Sam isn't expected to contribute a costly graduation present.

Soon the political spellbinders will begin presenting their eloquent arguments to the thousands of voters who have already decided how they will cast their ballots and whose minds couldn't be changed by an army of orators.

The campaign against profanity begun in Italy is a mighty commendable undertaking, but if Italy is anything like this country the people there will have to be allowed a few years at least to become accustomed to using polite and undefiled language in certain emergencies.

A delegation of distinguished Roumanian citizens arriving in New York City, expressed the opinion that America is now the "gravity center of human progress," a compliment which we receive gratefully and also with the admission that now and then our progress, as far as our individual activities are concerned, is geared at too high a speed to be safe and comfortable.

Government experts have invented an electric welding process which is designed to do away with the clatter of riveting machines now used in steel building construction, but whether the device is a success or not, let us suggest that the building industry proceed unabated, noise or no noise. Convenience, cleanliness and comfort are important and desirable, but are decidedly secondary to the necessity of keeping the workshops busy and that generally means smoke, grime and an end to peaceful quietude.

Lengel Does Recruiting.

Members of the Ohio Police Chiefs association, holding their convention in Toledo last week, gave the floor to S. A. Lengel, former head of the Canton police department, and heard him defend his course in connection with the Mellett murder investigation.

Going into the whole story, including events leading up to the tragedy, Mr. Lengel said that he did everything possible to trail the murderers although handicapped by lack of confidence on the part of the public. He declared that he was the victim of misrepresentation through newspaper reports.

A rather dramatic scene followed. The chiefs' association formally expressed its faith in the deposed Canton officer and decided to do everything possible to bring about his reinstatement. Press reports say that this expression of good will touched the former chief deeply and that his eyes filled with tears.

It is probably natural that sympathies of the police officials' organization should be with Lengel, a man with whom the members have been closely associated. Bonds of friendship have been formed and they are not easily severed, even by serious charges such as those filed against the Canton chief.

Citizens of Canton and investigators from the outside brought in to help clear up the Mellett case are not likely to be influenced by pleas from the police chiefs' association, however. They know Lengel's side of the affair and they know the other side and are convinced that Lengel's defense is weak and untenable. The record shows that Lengel was Mellett's foe and also one of the chief obstacles to the reformation which the crusading publisher sought to effect in Canton. The forces which brought death to Mellett operated virtually without official opposition while Lengel served as head of the police department. The state organization of chiefs, realizing all this, should hesitate and carefully deliberate before sponsoring any campaign to reinstate the Canton man.

Rudolph Valentino.

Nation-wide interest displayed in the fatal illness of Rudolph Valentino and the general concern shown over his welfare constitute convincing evidence of the fact that the American people place those who provide them with entertainment and recreation high on the scale of importance. The news that Valentino was stricken and the final tidings of his death were more widely read, beyond doubt, than would have been similar accounts regarding persons of prominence in other fields of endeavor which might be regarded as more essential to human welfare than motion picture production.

There are several explanations for this seeming anomaly. In the first place, the atmosphere of romance which surrounds nearly all theatrical celebrities and which seems to set them in a world apart from the average run of people accounts for the situation in a large measure. The Valentino personality and career were especially notable in that respect. The creator of a new type of character in the world of make-believe which won for him the frequently misinterpreted title of "sheik," he occupied even a loftier station of distinction in his select circle than the majority of his contemporaries.

We say that Valentino was often misunderstood and misrepresented because of the roles assigned to him in film productions. There was a tendency to class him as either effeminate or as a "heart-smasher," when the truth of the matter is that neither classification was correct. Valentino had his faults, beyond doubt, but the elements of real manhood in his make-up were predominant. That he managed to preserve these in face of the adulation that came his way from millions of motion picture patrons is a testimonial to his good qualities.

Personality and masculine pulchritude were the basis of Valentino's outstanding success as a motion picture performer. He was not what critics would term a great actor, although he enacted his roles with zest and virility, which is more than can be said for others who may be ranked above him in point of histrionic ability. His acting and his personality were picturesque and magnetic and because the general public like entertainers of that class, he was popular. But he would not have been popular had he been nothing but the "sheik" that some critics pictured him.

Millions view the passing of Valentino with concern, many with actual sorrow, because they feel that death has taken one whom they knew personally, who was much closer to them than statesmen, inventors, authors or other notables. They had met him face to face, through the marvelous development of modern motion pictures, and their daily routine had been enlivened and possibly their cares at least temporarily supplanted with pleasure through his portrayal of wholesome and usually thrilling screen drama. It is natural, therefore, that they should regard him as important and his death as an event to be mourned. And after all, the work of an entertainer, bringing light into a world that is often too gloomy, is worthy of high appraisal.

In the Limelight.

Marion county people will have special reasons for being interested in the state fair this year because of the fact that they will be distinctly honored in an important department of the annual event. Products of the manual training pupils of Marion county schools are to be exhibited as models typical of the best work done in that branch of school training throughout the state. There will be no other county represented, so that this community will derive full measure of benefit from the exhibit.

There are certain to be benefits of no insignificant proportions. First is the advertising feature, which can not be appraised too high. State fair visitors who see the work of Marion county pupils standing out as an example of Ohio's best will naturally conclude that here must be a community where public education is functioning at the utmost stage of efficiency. It is easy to see how this will be of help to Marion county. People throughout Ohio know of this community and are aware that it is a desirable place of residence and the added prestige given the schools here through the state fair exhibit will serve as further proof of the county's merits.

With schools that are weak in any respect no locality can hope to attract new residents though there may be plenty of other inducements. Fortunately, Marion county is well fortified on this important point. In promoting expansion and working for increased population its citizens need show no hesitancy in pointing to their schools as being on par with the best in Ohio. With marks of distinction like the state fair honor coming from the state department of education there are apparent grounds, in fact, for asserting that comparatively few communities can rightfully claim to be our equal.

If elaborate and complicated preparations mean anything the Dempsey fight should be a whale of a battle if it ever actually takes place.

Mr. Cooper's primary expense account has been filed and provides no indication that a slush fund investigation will be necessary, so that Ohioans will have to swallow their pride and admit that their state is somewhat old-fashioned and behind-the-times in political affairs.

The day may come when a foolproof automobile is invented, but even then it will be a good bet that the fools will manage to scheme around until they have things their own way.

We hope the British will refrain from questioning the claim that American girls are champion wielders of the lipstick.

The own-your-home movement may in time be amplified with a campaign urging that people stay at home occasionally.

Mr. and Mrs. Berlin, unable to escape unpleasant publicity, are probably considerate enough to admit that the blame rests with Pepa Mackay and not the newspaper reporters.

The cause of good government would be immeasurably benefited if more public officials worked as hard at filling their jobs as they do in campaigning to get them.

THE RUSSIAN RED: "GOSHIVITSKY!! I WISH THAT BULL WAS COLOR BLIND!"

Skin Irritations.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

As long as we are unconscious of our bodies we are apt to be happy. But any kind of a pain makes us miserable. We don't like pain and we are annoyed by every sensation different from the normal. The doctors have a word—"pruritis." This is used to describe every peculiar and unusual sensation which you try to relieve by scratching. The commonly employed term to describe pruritis is "itching."

If you say your skin itches, you may refer to one of many sensations. It may be a sensation of tickling, or prickling, or tingling, or crawling, or it may be just plain itching.

If you are tired and nervous, take notice of the many itching places you have. Your scalp will itch just over the right ear, the left ankle will itch, the left knee will demand attention, your neck will proclaim its need, there will be a crawling sensation in the right ear, etc.,

Irritation of the skin is caused by various agents. Sometimes the skin may react uncomfortably to some brand of cold cream or face powder. Intense itching may follow its use. A given soap may not be well borne by every skin.

There are a lot of skin diseases in which pruritis is one of the most pronounced symptoms. Eczema, the "itch" and other skin troubles are among them. Chapping of the skin may produce it.

Auto-intoxication, intestinal disturbance, poor nutrition, constipation, overeating and food poisoning may cause itching of the skin. Certain foods—strawberries and shell fish especially—seem capable of producing pruritis in sensitive persons.

Jaundice and diabetes are two diseases which cause violent pruritis. Bad teeth and gums may produce the symptom.

There are other causes which are nervous in origin. Fear, embarrassment and certain diseases of the nervous system may cause itching of the skin.

Sometimes the itching is noticed only on removal of the clothing at night. On taking off the underwear, the corset or garters, there may be a terrible spell of pruritis. The attack lasts for a quarter of an hour or more.

Sometimes very hot water will stop the itching—not warm water, but hot water. One of the most satisfactory applications for its relief is hyposulphite of soda. Add a tablespoonful of this drug to a quart of water and mop the itching parts with the solution.

In a persistent and annoying case the family doctor should be consulted. He will test the urine and give attention to the general health. The diet, sleep, exercise and fresh air of the victim must be given consideration.

T. W. B. Q—Following a long siege of neuritis there is an occasional prickling sensation and numbness in the left arm and hip. What would cause this, and how can it be helped?

A—This is not unusual after neuritis. It is due to poor circulation, and when your general health is better the symptoms will probably clear up. Massage should be helpful.

E. L. G. Q—I am slightly bow-legged. What would you advise?

A—If your trouble is slight, I would not try to remedy it. However, an orthopedist will advise you after he has examined you.

C. B. Q—What causes people to bite their fingernails, and how can one break the habit?

A—Nervousness is a common cause of this trouble. Painting the nails with tincture of asafoetida should be helpful in breaking the habit.

MISERABLE. Q—What would cause a foul feeling in the nose? I always have to carry a handkerchief.

A—Probably due to a catarrhal condition or a possible growth in the nasal passage. Have your nose examined. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. W. Q—Does cocoa made with whole milk thicken the blood?

A—It does not thicken the blood, but is very nourishing.

L. Y. Q—Is there such a thing as dry catarrh? 2—Would it be liable to cause deafness? What would cause sneezing ten or more times in rapid succession? Also head noises?

A—Yes.

2—If neglected a catarrhal condition sometimes causes deafness. An obstruction or growth in the nasal passage might be responsible. Have your nose examined. Head noises are often due to a catarrhal condition which has affected the middle ear. Your doctor will advise you after examination. —Copyright, 1926.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Dr. Hrdlicka, Washington scientist, seeks in Alaska to find where the first Americans came from. Presumably they journeyed from Central Asia and left landmarks along the way. He does well to find out if he can. But it is even more important to know where Americans are going. What are they leaving along the way that will be any good to those who come after?

When people are convinced that you have something to say they will pay well to hear you. A New York doctor gets a $1,200 fee for giving advice and holding consultation with other doctors over the radio. Carl Laemmle, motion picture producer, pays the bill. But it has cost that doctor years of study and hard work to reach the place where folks are willing to come and pay him real money to hear what he has to say.

Scholarly observers say history is less read in America than it was years ago. That is a sad sign. People who do not think enough to be interested in what has happened in the long years that men have lived on the earth are not intelligently ambitious enough to care what is going to happen.

If we do not know history we are not in shape to give true values to what is happening now. A man who is not interested in history is simply not interested in life.

Fannie Hurst, writer, thinks America ought to stop the tourist travel to Europe. She says many Americans behave in a manner that makes us all hated abroad. She is suggesting the wrong kind of remedy. Nothing could be worse than to put a stop to visiting back and forth across national borders. The reason Canada and the United States get along so well is because we go back and forth so much. We know and understand each other.

Miss Hurst is right about pig-headed, bombastic, overrich Americans who irritate the poverty-stricken in Europe. But fools we shall always have with us. Let the tourists go and come, but keep after them until they learn to behave.

John Alexander, seventy years old, pleads with a New York judge to send him back to Sing Sing prison. He has spent most of the last twenty-five years there. He has no other home.

"I am tired and sick," he says. "When I get 'home' I'll probably be made comfortable in the prison hospital."

It would be interesting to know at just what place in John Alexander's life he came to the fork in the road—and took the wrong turn.

"In the midst of life we are in death"—which means that as we travel the way there are always avenues leading off. And the end of some of them is death.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The worst joke I heard today was told to me, by Dorothy Gish. Dorothy, as you know, is one of the famous Gish sisters. Lillian is more of the tragedian, and Dorothy is more of the comedian. But Dorothy can do some tragedy when the occasion calls for it. She in real life is the wife of James Rennie, the stage actor. Dorothy just made two pictures over here. She has a keen sense of humor and knows every gag connected with the picture business. Here is a new one:

A certain type of business man had made a fortune in his business owing to fires breaking out at judicious times, and he took some of the money and bought a movie theater.

"Theater?" asked a friend. "Why that's a new line of business with you. Can you make it pay?"

"Pay? Why sure! Every speck of it is made of wood!"—Copyright, 1926.

Husband for Sale.

[Toledo Blade.]

The man or woman who has no sense of humor is destined to become lonesome, if not sick, as strange phases of life are unfolded from day to day. A Chicago woman announces that she will not divorce her husband, who is an alleged bigamist, unless she is paid $10,000. Another woman wants him. All right, says the woman who holds first claim, she may have him, "but she's got to pay for him."

Here is the social problem involved: How can any considerable value be placed on a husband who isn't worth keeping? Matrimony is being cheapened by such poor, weak, ridiculous exhibitions of infidelity. If a price of ten thousand dollars can be placed on a bigamist, every golden wedding in the country is worth countless millions as an example of peace and happiness. Two lines of Mother Machree are worth two columns of divorce news:

Sure the shovel and tongs
To each other belongs.

The week-end habit has been claimed as the invention of no less a person than Oliver Cromwell. At any rate, he was one of the earliest of those who cultivated it. For it is on record that he was wont to escape from London and the worries of state, and pass Saturday to Monday at Hampton Court.

Q. Explain the privy council of England? E. G.

A. The privy council in England is the body of advisers of the sovereign. Its duties are as follows: To advise the King on affairs of state; to give formal sanction to orders in council by which the king on advice of his ministers expresses his pleasure with respect to various administrative matters; to perform ceremonial functions; to perform duties of an administrative and judicial nature; to deal with appeals from dominions and colonial and Indian courts; to decide concerning petitions for extension of letters patent, copyright, etc; to perform ecclesiastical jurisdiction. The members of this body have titles of Right Honorable and rank next to the Knights of the Garter. They are appointed by the sovereign and their number is not limited. The presence of six members is sufficient to constitute a council.

Q How long does a widow wear mourning nowadays? A. B. L.

A. The widow who intends to leave off her mourning in due time wears a crepe bonnet and long veil a year. After this, black costumes of crepe-de-chine, lusterless silk, et cetera, are assumed, with hats and bonnets garnished with black ribbon, black flowers, black chiffon, and dull jet ornaments. Six months later white and blue touches may suitably relieve the second mourning and after two years have expired colors may be resumed.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Aug. 24—Back of all desperate crimes in New York in the past few years is the sinister influence of "dope." Criminal weaklings are stimulated to daring bravery. Cowardly sneak thieves, who rob blind beggars, cops, hold up banks.

It is related that a group celebrating a planned robbery with a cafe debauch showed up at their rendezvous next morning for the job unnerved and shaking. They had lost zest for the job. The leader passed around several shots of heroin.

An hour later in the heart of town they left two armed guards blackjacked on the sidewalk and were speeding the wrong way in a one way street with enormous plunder—firing as they fled. Only sheer recklessness made the coup possible.

The success of a daring crime often depends largely on that psychology of the prize ring in beating the other fellow to the punch. In priming themselves with drugs, the fairly fearless crook throws caution to the winds and becomes a killer.

In the Whittemore gang was a gimlet eyed, stoop shouldered and shuffling youth who slept with a light burning because he feared the dark, but when it came time to join the band of desperadoes he resorted to the "needle" and swung out in front as leader of the pack.

"Dope" alone is responsible for the new brand of sleek and suave killer of nasty habiliments, glossy hair and meticulous polish to his nails. His courage is the courage of a drug fiend brain and because of the terror of his reaction he is usually caught.

The real daring criminal who pits his wits against society rarely uses drugs or liquor until he has finished his job and trails are cold. Then he goes on a spree. And he seldom kills save when his back is against the wall.

A gentleman neatly dressed stepped from one of the aristocratic old homes in Washington square. A passing auto slithered through a pool of muddy water and spattered his spats. He stood a moment in apparent indecision, then removed and tossed them in the gutter. Presently a whitewingcame along, salvaged and tried them on. In ten minutes he was the center of a howling crowd. Some sort of a lesson in something or other.

There is an apparently demented Italian who wanders about town in sashed corduroys with shirt open at the throat. Every few blocks he will suddenly stop and in a marvelous voice render fragments from some old opera. Then he moves on.

It is pleasing to witness the kindness of New York policemen for these amiable and harmless characters who wander the streets. When this Italian stopped the other day and quickly collected a crowd I noticed a policeman a half block away. He sauntered up, saw the familiar figure and turned conveniently into a side street—which was as it should be.

In the old days when Jack's restaurant was keyless there was a character who dropped in almost every midnight. He ordered a glass of beer and a sandwich, consumed them leisurely and sent for the proprietor. It was always the same question: "Have there been any telegrams for me today?" Receiving a negative answer he would solemnly walk out. He never offered to pay his check nor was he asked to. He had been a long time patron of the establishment and a long siege of fever had left him slightly demented—but harmless. —Copyright, 1926.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cunningham, Miss Emma Nichols, Miss Lucile DeWolfe and Rodnet Reece had returned from a two-weeks camping trip at Burt's Lake, Michigan.

While J. R. Gallagher was at work at the plant of the Marion Steam Shovel company a flying piece of steel struck him on the right arm, causing a serious injury.

It was announced that Prosecuting Attorney John H. Clark would preside as temporary chairman at the Republican convention to be held the following day in the courthouse. L. E. Myers had been selected to act as secretary and George T. Gerson, assistant secretary.

Attendance was increasing at the Ohio Free Baptists' association convention being held at Morral.

Officers elected by the Marion County Teachers' institute for the following year included F. W. Stoll, Marion, president; T. F. Bolander, Morral, vice president; Alice Peters, Marion, secretary, and Arthur Jones, Waldo, a member of the executive committee.

Dissolution of the local stock firm of Roberts and Monnette was announced. J. E. Roberts and C. E. Monnette were the partners in this firm.

The fifth annual reunion of the Underwood family was held the day before at the William Miller grove, five miles east of the city. The attendance was more than 100. Jesse Underwood was elected secretary and Benjamin Underwood, treasurer.

Knocked unconscious by a bolt of lightning, Howser Denman, living near LaRue, was killed by a second bolt as he staggered through the door of his home supported by his wife. Mrs. Denman was knocked unconscious by the second bolt.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, north Main street, the day before. He had been named Charles Edgar.

Who's Who and Why.

JUDGE EUGENE C. BONNIWELL.

As Pennsylvania goes Democratic about as often as Texas goes Republican, Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell is not overly hopeful of landing in the governor's chair at Harrisburg as a result of the November elections. He is the candidate of Pennsylvania Democrats for governor.

Judge Bonniwell is widely known in Pennsylvania. In 1918 he was defeated for the office he now seeks by former Governor W. C. Sproul, carrying nine counties out of the sixty-seven in the state. He has served on the municipal court bench in Philadelphia for many years, and is a former president of the State Volunteer Firemen's organization.

Judge Bonniwell is a moderate wet, while his Republican competitor is an ardent dry. His friends are hopeful that he will win many wet Republican votes, but it is likely that these will be offset by the dry Democratic votes which will be cast for the Republican nominee.

Today's Events.

Typical of the sentiment that is expressed in many ways over the death of Valentino was the giving of a crucifix to the undertaker to be placed on Valentino's breast It was presented by a young woman who said he was Valeno Samel a native of a New York antique dealer It was a 14 inch crucifix inlaid with a mosaic of forget me nots She said her uncle long an intimate friend of Valentino wanted the crucifix to be placed upon his breast

Generous to Fault

Valentino did not leave a will so far as is known It is likely that no one knows how much of a personal estate he left If he ever made a will it is in Hollywood

Estimates of his fortune range from virtually nothing except what real estate jewelry and art objects he had to $750 000 His income last year was close to $1 000 000 but he spent practically all of it according to Schenck to whose corporation Valentino's $200 000 insurance is payable

LENGEL DISMISSED BY MAYOR SWARTS

Canton Aug 24—On the eve of the grand jury investigation into the slaying of Don R Mellett Canton publisher Mayor S M Swarts dismissed S A Lengel Canton police chief from the department

Lengel's suspension of 30 days for infractions reported today and the police chief was scheduled to resume his office

The mayor's move appeared to mark the turning point in favor of the clean up forces of the city and a weeding out of the entire police department is planned Mellett's crusade along these lines was held as responsible for his slaying it being alleged that conditions in the police department permitted the underworld to flourish

Charges Incompetency

Mayor Swarts charged Lengel with incompetency inefficiency and neglect of duty in a letter to him

You as chief of police after the murder of Don R Mellett had duty upon you to make a thorough and proper investigation of the facts surrounding such murder and failed to properly question those you might well know to be suspects as to the murder Swarts wrote and you failed and neglected to compel, require and direct police officers under you to make a proper investigation concerning the facts surrounding such murder

The mayor's action followed on the heels of the dismissal of Peter Dawson and J W Burris from the civil service commission and the appointment of their successors

Swarts further charged in his letter that Lengel could not enforce the city laws because of his close association and the close association of police officers under him with certain law violators in Canton some of said known law violators being the following named persons Carl Studer Louis Mazer Ben Rudner James Crowley Eddie Abber and Val Cook

Lengel To Fight

Mazer is in Cleveland jail on a federal liquor conspiracy charge and also is charged with the murder of Mellett Studer is charged with liquor conspiracy by federal authorities who declare the Canton liquor investigation and the Mellett murder done still

Lengel was reported as planning to fight Mayor Swarts charges relying on the moral and financial support of the Ohio Association of Police Chiefs before whom he told his side of the story at the Toledo convention last week

ATTORNEY TO SEEK BOND FOR STUDER

Cleveland Aug 24—J F Herman attorney for Carl Studer Canton jungle crown prince held on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law announced today that he would attempt to procure the release of his client on bond this afternoon

The origin and reason for the supposed threat received by United States Commissioner Martin J Memahon was revealed today by Deputy Marshal William Hall

Receipt of this telegram was said by Monahan to have actuated his move to raise Studer's bond from $2 500 to $15 000

The telegram was sent from Warren Ohio by Arnie Elliott to her sister Courtney Elliott held in Canton for

HAPPY DREAM COMES TRUE; WOMAN'S HOPES REALIZED

After Suffering for Years Miss Ethel Davis Finds Relief Through Use of Tepee Herb Tonic.

To suffer more than a year with nervousness and stomach trouble to have tried all manner of treatments and medicines without avail and then to be relieved of her ailments almost over night it would seem is like having a happy dream come true

And yet this is exactly what happened to Miss Ethel Davis after she began the use of Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic

Miss Davis resides at 900 N Seventh street Richmond Ind In grateful recognition of the wonderful value of Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic she says For more than a year I was in a badly run down condition of health I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach My food soured and then came the awful gas pressure around my heart that nearly shut off my breath

After an attack of influenza I usually had a headache Sometimes it was so severe that I had to go to bed I lost weight and my strength dwindled away to almost nothing My complexion became pale and sallow I was constipated and had to be continually resorting to the use of laxatives

Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic is the only medicine that ever helped me In a short time after starting its use I began to feel better I have now taken it for several months and I don't have a sign of trouble with my stomach I seldom have a headache and my nerves are just perfect

My complexion has a good healthy color I am not constipated I am surely glad to recommend Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic to women who are in need of a good general tonic

Don't fail to try Tepee Herb Tonic if you are not well It has relieved thousands and you may confidently expect it to relieve you

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's Hennes & Coop ers Will M Stamp Bartlett's and all drug stores Redwood H D Kyle—Adv

die waiting molds At the same time the melter makes a test of the metal

Huge Ladle

The metal is poured in a huge ladle which is also heated to a high temperature to prevent the ores hardening

How to get an overheat into the metal is poured from the ladle into the molds to form the castings Of smaller castings are poured before the larger ones because a lower temperature must be attained to make the finer casts

Small pieces of aluminum are placed in the metal while in the ladle to keep up the temperature Usual time of this metal will be 3 the temperature of the melted steel several hundred degrees it is said

Other Furnaces

Two other furnaces have also been installed by the steel company where all sizes are baked in heat by coke Later the owners abolish the old danger of coke fumes in this furnace

The annealing furnace used before heating the castings after being pressed to the knife into the molds cools

About 30 men are at the present time employed in the new company A full force of more than 100 men is expected to be in the employment of the company in the near future

The company will have a pay rolls of about $1 250 000 each year according to C A Owens general manager

Each year the company's budget will be between $800 000 and $1 000 000 to be given as employees wages The company will use a total of $500 000 feet of gas every year Manager Owens estimates

THE wedding of Miss Ruth Pilsbin and Mr Ralph D Bolt at the Methodist parsonage on central parkway with Rev Mr Kelly officiating took place at 7 o'clock Saturday evening Miss Ruth Mae Felt of Hayesville and Dawn Foltz Boling of Crestline were married at 11 15 o'clock this morning at Immanuels Evangelical Lutheran Church Mrs Edna Gough played the Wedding March as the bridal party entered the church and Mendelssohns Wedding March at the close of the service She also played appropriate selections for Miss Frances Brandstadt Of Hermis Mendelssohn at Dayton

Rev I W Schollmeyer read the single ring service in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends

The bride was charming in a white lace over satin gown fashioned on straight lines with inserts of lace and trimmed with pearl Her tulle veil was caught in a cap fashion with a wreath of orange blossoms and pearls and her flowers were a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley

Mrs Pilsbin was attended by Miss Ruth Witter of Crestline as maid of honor who wore an attractive frock of orchid chiffon trimmed in hand colored roses and crystal beads with a picture hat in orchid color Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses and orchid roses and sweetpeas The bridesmaids in her maid of honor was a piece of silver John R Pilsbin of Buffalo N Y served the bridegroom as best man

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast in the presidential suite at Hotel Harding covers being placed for 20 Bowls of pink roses and orchid larkspur carried out a delightful decorative note for the table

Wedding

Mr and Mrs Pilsbin left this afternoon on a 10 days wedding trip to New York City Washington Philadelphia and other points in the east Mrs Pilsbin will wear for traveling a Chevret model in navy blue fine crepe with fun lace trimming and a hat of tan and brown with gloves and fur necktie to in the same shades

Mrs Pilsbin is the daughter of Mr and Mrs S P Felt of Prospect She attended the Green Camp High School and is a graduate of the Marion Business College She is employed in the office of Superintendent Harry B Adams of the Erie Railroad

Mr Pilsbin is a graduate of the Bucyrus High School and is employed as engine dispatcher with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Crestline where they will reside

Out of town relatives and friends in attendance at the wedding were Mr and Mrs S P Bolt and Ralph and Hayes Bolt of Prospect Mrs Susan Pilsbin mother of the bridegroom Mr and Mrs C F Magers and Miss Pearl Pilsbin of Crestline Miss Louise Dowell of Delaware and Miss Mary Mason of Columbus

Mrs. Molla Mallory Wins National Net Championship

NEW YORK Aug 24—The field of women tennis players make way for a new internationl favorite in the person of a red haired Mrs Molla Mallory was the opinion among critics today as a result of Mrs Mallorys victory over Miss Elizabeth Ryan for the national singles championship yesterday

The feat was certainly worthy of an old champion staging a mere comeback, it was more surprising than that

For Molla played greater all altogether more versatile tennis than she has shown on American courts in years greater perhaps than she ever has shown

Uses Forcing Shots

Her game even when she dominated the field some years ago consisted only of a powerful forehand drive and the ability to keep them back to her opponent until the latter tired and missed Yesterday she used forcing shots nicely placed where they would do the most good and when these failed, she used Miss Ryan with beautiful cross court shots Even her backhand and service were stronger

Of course she got the breaks but nearly every winner needs those and the fact that she did not get them was lost sight of in her magnificent rally after trailing love 4 in the final set

HIGHER THAN WOOLWORTH BUILDING
The Yearly Sales of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
The Woolworth Building in New York City, which towers 792 feet above the street is our highest building

If all the bottles of Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound sold in one year could be placed end to end they would make a column as high as the Woolworth Building with enough left over to extend from Lynn Mass to Cleveland Ohio
I have lots of work to do and I am not very strong but I was getting worse all the time until I began taking Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I used to lose my appetite completely at certain times, but I feel very well since I began taking this medicine I think so much of it that I would go before a notary and swear to its merits You could step into my home any time and you will find a bottle of Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound —Mrs Frank M Cissel 220 South 11th Ave, Mount Vernon, N Y

A STORY OF YOUTH AND LOVE

BY KATHARINE BRUSH

BOOK THREE
CHAPTER VII

The Zeta Kappa staircase was so structured that anyone descending, one inch at a time piece by piece like a personal postcard opened deliberately, a coontime of a mild spring like day ate February Jock Hamill feet apart at the top of these stairs and paused to bring the rest of him slowly down Handsome legs in golf hose of a blue and gray diamond pattern Knickers voluminous and drooping Coat that matched the knickers pierced by an oblong of white linen shirt Surmounting this oblong a collar with a neat bow tie And above the sculptured brunette head, at made all young women and some old ones catch their breath a little.

At the foot of the stairs the head paused forward in an attitude of listening and Jock stood still A medley of excited voices drifted to him from the living room

If that's not hot I'm crazy!

Yes and look at the bus will she must be Mr Rolls Royce

Says they're stopping here

Probably got the wrong place

Such luck Yes no luck Well don't tell her if she has Let's kill the fatted calf and have her in

Upon entering the room where the voices created these peculiar comment Jock perceived a group of his mates struggling for points of vantage at the front windows He joined them

A monstrous limousine painted creamy white and aglean with polished nickel was drawn up at the curb outside A chauffeur in uniform presided at the wheel and in the tonneau like a glittering jewel in a showcase sat Yvonne She was leaning forward looking inquiringly at the honest and she wore garments that matched her equipage a white wrap of ermine and a white toque against which her hair flamed conspicuous as blood on snow

These things Jock noted in the fraction of a second Another second and he was ranking the front door open taking the porch steps in one jump crossing the sidewalk Yvonne

For a while that was all he could say Her name over and over again So many words beat at his lips at once and jammed each other and locked each other in Yvonne He took both her white gloved hands and held them in a grip that must have hurt her He devoured her with his eyes Yvonne——

She smiled at him that remembered smile that carved a long dreamy dimple in one cheek You didn't forget me Jock Hamill And presently she laughed aloud and said Why don't you say something

I can't Jock told her I'm too certain that you I just want to look at you——

Five minutes came in a swift stream When had she returned to New York Why hadn't she let him know How did she happen to be here?

But I have no terrible she objected All I thought instead of letting you know I'd drive down here and see for myself whether or not you still cared about me——

You're finding out all right

Um mm You are glad to see me at that

Well—roughly speaking he almost stuttered

Her great eyes wandered past him out to the Zeta Kappa facade I don't think I ever beheld quite so many heads she observed

Jock turned The windows were indeed full of heads still staring with unashamed interest As he looked the heads bobbed and grinned and one youth lifted his right hand clasped it with his left and shook it vigorously in token of wholehearted approbation It came to Jock that there had been shown him such friendly attention for weeks Look he said Right now I'm the most popular man in the fraternity Ocean I'm the only one who knows you Pride swelled in him and he tugged at Yvonne's little hand Come on darling,—come in a minute and let me introduce them

Mountain to Mohammed? began Yvonne But something about Jock's face made her yield She got out of the limousine and stood straight and slim and dazzling on the pavement You just want to parade me she accused dimpling up at him—like a little trick puppy on a leash!

You bet your sweet life I do! he rhapsodized joyously I want to walk in there with a wah see what I found Look in my eye and watch you mow 'em down like—say what are you laughing at woman

You're a darned adorable baise

You mean I'm absolutely it love——

He had never loved her more than during the ensuing few minutes in the fraternity house She sat enthroned on a window seat her green coat spread out around her like the background in a painting her head tilted side ways—and without one visible effort whatever made a dozen blase young collegians her slaves Her first faint lazy smile from the doorway had caught them and the tentacles of her beauty and personality held them fast I knew it Jock gloated secretly She's like him, you can't see Every admiring glance that listened to her every guffaw elicited by things she said every small compliment added its tithe to his exhilaration

He said little Talk effervesced around him and he stood silent for the most part looking and listening and thinking Lovlier than ever She caught a taxi in California and it's becoming Good, what a smooth getup! That white fur Sue always looks like a million dollars, anyway And maybe she doesn't know her groceries. Point Says just the right things Look at Pat Hastings, gaunt as Bet he never saw such a girl in his life Well who has for that matter There never was such a girl For heaven's sake what did I do all these weeks without her? How did I stand it?

Suddenly he wanted her alone Where he could feast his eyes upon her without fear that alien eyes would notice Where he could take her in his arms He stood up and pulled her with him. Come on Yvonne he said Enough of this rabble

The worthies thus designated were reluctant to let Yvonne go They scowled at Jock Who's he? Dull idea checking out now Stay to lunch or something But Jock deaf to their entreaties and full of the manliness of every able person bore her in triumph away

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

LILLIAN IS LIQUID

I drew back from the flowers box which Mrs Peters held out to me in astonishment unaccountably tinged with uneasiness

There must be some mistake I said for the very appearance of the box with the long rose stems extending from it spelled a lavishness of expenditure which no one in my circle of friends could afford

Your name is Mrs Richard Graham isn't it she asked a trifle tartly and I'm to put the heavy box from me arms There's on the envelope as well as this red tie I'm on the second floor as matched There isn't any mistake

I'm glad there isn't Katherine commented That box looks most interesting

Do you want a knife or something to cut the cord Mrs Peters contributed hopefully and I knew that she was naturally curious to see the flowers but some instinct made me decide to let no eyes but my own and Katherine's rest upon the contents of the box

I'm as curious as Mrs Peters

No thank you I have something in the kitchen Thank you so much for bringing it up

She took the hint and her departure promptly and the door had no sooner closed behind her than Katherine started for the kitchenette

I'll get the knife while you open that envelope I'm as curious as Mrs Peters

I tore open the envelope to find only a conventional blank card with inscription inclosure in box When Katherine returned I handed it to her and taking the knife from her hand cut the cords fast among the box and lifting the lid disclosed a fragrant mass of magnificent roses ranging in color from the loveliest deep cream through the different shades of pink to glowing scarlet

Flowers cannot be for me I retorted stupidly but Katherine caught up a small envelope lying upon the blossoms and thrust it into my hand

If you don't read that I shall she threatened and I drew out a card closely written at me and below the engraved name it bore

Your niece has just wired me that she will be in New York today the card said Will you not permit me to have a share in welcoming her to her new home

The heavy engraving of the name stared at me

Madge Is Troubled by the Gift

Philip Veritzen I repeated the name to myself then aloud slowly mechanically for the munificence of the gift troubled me

Philip Veritzen Katherine repeated with a curious look at me and I hastily held out the card to her

They're not for me I said They're for Mary

There was a light tap on the door Lillian's knock and I remembered with a start that she had said she was coming up with something for Mary's room When I opened it I almost laughed aloud with a nervousness that was almost hysteria for she bore in her arms a small jardiniere holding a lovely but exceedingly modest rosebush which she put down hastily in the nearest chair as she caught sight of the box of roses

My anointed great grandmother! she exclaimed what big butter and egg man has succumbed to your wiles Madge! Or is Katherine the lucky lady?

Neither of us I said holding out the card Mr Veritzen sent them to Mary as a welcome home

What's that she demanded sharply but she was already deep in the perusal of the card and I did not repeat my statement But when she put down the card she looked over at Katherine with a significant smile

Have you read this she asked Katherine nodded with an answering amused quirk of her lips

And you share Madge's modest opinion that these are intended for Mary?

The card says so Katherine answered demurely

Perhaps the card is right"

Well! Lillian fixed me with eyes brimful of laughter and a bit of harmless malice Perhaps the card is right but I want to be around when Dicky first lamps these posies and receives the ingenious explanation that they were sent to welcome Mary home

It's the sort of thing he loves to do she said suddenly turning serious, when his stars make their first appearances and on birthday anniversaries and things like that But I never heard of his greeting a novice in this way Take my advice and don't let Mary speak of it over at the offices. There's a lot of jealousy around there and an attention like this is likely to get her in bad Drat the man anyway! I admire his taste and his ingenuity in providing a plausible excuse for sending roses to you Madge but I can't throw any fits of rapture over his discretion"

Jack Dempsey Confident He Can Defeat Gene Tunney

Followers of Challenger Claim Heavyweight Champ Trying to Gain Confidence

Titleholder Asserts Himself Among Friends at Conference; Says He Will Leave Ring Next Month Feet First or Undefeated; Declares He Can't Lose

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Aug. 24—Of casual interest to Gene Tunney and anyone who thinks the short end might be a sound investment, comes the word today that Jack Dempsey has privately declared himself to the effect that he will leave the ring on the night of September 23 the undefeated champion or feet first and inert.

No half measures: no empty honor of a decision at the end of 10 rounds. He says he will be more avidly after a knockout than at any time in his career, not excepting that second round with Firpo or that great day at Toledo when he held the world in the palm of his hand and knew it.

Jack Dempsey wants vindication before the court of public opinion

"Won't Lose"

"I'm not going to lose this fight because to lose it would mean the end of me," he declared. "If I left the ring a beaten man, I'd be worse than a nobody. The pack would be yipping at my heels in a minute, trying to rend what remains of the rest of my life

"I want my sons, if I am ever fortunate enough to have them, to be known as the sons of the undefeated heavyweight champion. The public would honor them in that case. If I lost they would be called the sons of a slacker. I won't have that. It isn't true, anyhow, but I will not give them a chance to say it.

"With that prospect staring me in the face, Tunney won't be able to keep me on the floor if he hits me on the potato a thousand times. I'll get up if I have to take the ring with me."

All Are Concerned

Dempsey did not make these remarks to the writer. He never talks that way to newspapermen. His talk was made in the bosom of his official family. Gene Normile was there; so were Gus Wilson and several more of the champion's staff. They left the conference convinced that Dempsey can not lose

As to that, it is an open question A champion that hasn't fought in three years and is being harried by court actions every day, stands an excellent chance of losing, providing his opponent has anything worth offering. Tunney has yet to prove that he has.

Another thing: Those suits, attachments and subpoenaes can work two ways. They either will break Dempsey down mentally and morally, or they will turn him into a berserk, irresistible mad man on the night of the fight. So far, the latter has been the effect. In no training camp I date has Dempsey showed the savagery and blood lust that characterized his workouts at Saratoga. Even middleweights and welterweights have been shellacked to a rich, brown turn, the only man to escape being a featherweight. He was granted immunity from the champion's lambsing gloves only because murder hasn't been legalized yet in New York state.

Some pro-Tunney addicts have taken this performance to mean that Dempsey, doubting his own ability, is trying to convince himself that he is good. Personally, I believe that the champion has been irritated into a state of absolute ferocity and that Gene Tunney is fortunate he doesn't have to step out with the man while the mood is on him.

Paul Doyle, Brooklyn, knocked out Young Jack Mastrangs, New Orleans, in second round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Young Jack Dempsey, Philadelphia, won on technical knockout from Jack McVey, negro, New York, in fourth round of scheduled 10-round bout.

Philadelphia—Jimmy Herman, Philadelphia, knocked out Leo "Kid" Roy, Canada, in second of scheduled 10-round bout. Yale Okun, New York, won from Mat Edgle, Philadelphia, referee's decision when judges disagreed.

Troy, N. Y.—Young Testo, Troy, won from Red Herring, Gulfport, Miss., 12 rounds.

Dayton—Danny Frush, lightweight champion of England, knocked out Bobby Meldown, Dayton, in first round. Joe Belmont, Dayton, defeated Speedy Miller, Cincinnati, six rounds. Copper Pence, Cincinnati, defeated Danny Huff, Dayton negro, six rounds; Dal Richards, Dayton, defeated Kid Farmer, six rounds.

Redland Field, Cincinnati—Decision for Frankie Schoell, Buffalo, N. Y., over Billy Ryan, Cincinnati welterweight, in 10 rounds of main go fighting.

WALL-ST FAVORS CHAMP TO DEFEAT GENE TUNNEY

New York, Aug. 24—So much Dempsey money has appeared during the last several days that odds on the champion for the Tunney fight on Sept. 23 have shrunk to 8 to 5, according to statements made by Wall-st commissioners today.

The champion had been a 2 to 1 favorite in the early betting.

The new Multnomah stadium in Portland, Ore., is to be dedicated with the Washington-Oregon football game, which is regarded as the gridiron classic of the Northwest.

THE LAST ROUND

How Heavyweight Kings Have Met Their Enas; in Title Matches of Past

This is the first of a series of stories by Norman E. Brown, celebrated sports authority, on the outcome of heavyweight title bouts of the past that have seen the passing of a king. You will want to read this and the following stories, in view of the coming Dempsey-Tunney bout and its possibilities.—Editor.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

The Ultimate Thrill
The Most Dramatic Moment
The Most Tragic Spectacle

IN the repertoire of sports is the passing of a world's heavyweight championship—the downfall of the king.

The rounds, then, in which the title has been lifted from the drooping, tired head of the old kings and placed on the brows of the new stand out as the most interesting chapters in sport history.

This holds true today as it did 50 or 100 years ago, although the boxing game has been completely revolutionized—bears no semblance now to the bloody, bone crushing, soul simmering game it once was.

The possible appearance of Jack *Dempsey, present holder of the heavy*weight championship, in the ring this fall, draws interest once more to the class of kings.

Theoretically, at least, the man who wears the ermine and gold of the heavyweight championship stands out as the most perfect physical specimen of fighting man in the world. The contention that there lurks in the clubs, roundhouses, steel mills or colleges men who could challenge the recognized champ if they devoted their energies to it does not detract from the glamor that is thrown about the champion. The world calls him king.

About John L.

How have these kings met their ends?

I hope to tell in this series.

I'm starting with the memorable battle between John L. Sullivan and James J. Corbett, back in 1892, for the reason that that fight not only heralded the advent of the modern style of boxing, as exemplified by Corbett, but it marked the passing of the last of the bare knuckle champions—Sullivan.

The passing of John L. Sullivan as heavyweight champion of the world was rendered doubly tragic by the fact that with the defeat at the hands of Corbett went his faith in himself and the type of fighter he represented.

Sullivan was a product of the bare knuckle days when men lived as hard as they fought. They fought with but one end in view, to batter down the other fellow. Fights were staged where police allowed them. The fighters, outside fighting hours, lived with the sporting element. Most of them drank even while training.

When the talk of a match between the rugged, growling, gruff Sullivan and Corbett started, Sullivan and his friends laughed at the prospects. Corbett was a mere youth. He was a bank clerk—a "dude." Sullivan and his friends termed him. Corbett trained at the Olympic club in San Francisco. He had never fought without gloves. His jet black hair, well combed, his neat clothes, and his jaunty air all helped to make him a dandy in the eyes of the older fight fans.

"I'll lay the dude out in a couple of rounds," Sullivan growled when the fight really was arranged.

Sullivan Meets Surprise

When the first bell rang Sullivan leaped from his corner intent upon carrying out his threat. But Corbett, light on his feet, quick thinking and trained to the minute, was not there when Sullivan swung. Round after round Sullivan rushed the bank clerk, swore at him and demanded that Corbett "stand up and fight."

Corbett, however, had his plans laid. He knew that Sullivan was not trained for a long fight. The old king's stomach was fat. His rushes left him winded. Corbett held to his plan, and as Sullivan rushed jabbed him incessantly on the nose with his left hand.

Sullivan's nose became a bloody mass. It pained him intensely. The pain spread to his eyes. The blood got in them. Every jab made him more furious.

This continued for 20 rounds. At the end of the twentieth Corbett was smiling—light on his feet and confident. Sullivan, in his corner, was puffing, cursing the fates (perhaps inwardly cursing himself that he had not trained more rigidly). And there was his nose—fairly blinding him with the pain.

Corbett felt his time had come. So did Billy Delaney, that old master who was managing him.

When the twenty-first opened Corbett changed his tactics. He literally showered Sullivan with rights and lefts. When Sullivan rushed Corbett beat him to it—with another shower of blows.

The telling punches in that final round are listed with this story.

After the fight Corbett tried to be friendly with Sullivan but the dethroned hero was surly. As a matter of fact it was years before Sullivan felt friendly toward "the dude."

Sullivan had been a popular champion, too, because of his willingness to fight and his ability to "mix" with the sporting fraternity. In fact his popularity was so great that on his arrival in New York soon after, beaten and shorn of his title, he was given an ovation that most champions would like. His friends refused to believe wire reports that he had been beaten.

Corbett, however, soon won popularity.

THE GROWLING SULLIVAN WENT INTO THE FIGHT CONFIDENT OF FINISHING THE "DUDE" IN A COUPLE OF ROUNDS
JIM CONSTANTLY MADE A MONKEY OF SULLIVAN WITH HIS SPEED

HOW OLD JOHN L. MET HIS DEFEAT

This is the way newspaper accounts gave the twenty-first and last round of the Sullivan-Corbett title fight at New Orleans, Sept. 7, 1892.

Round 21—Sullivan rushed, but Corbett stepped nimbly aside and smashed the big fellow's sore and bleeding nose with both fists, causing the blood to flow in a torrent.

Sullivan was bewildered and began to show signs of early collapse. Corbett, smiling like a schoolboy, hooked a right hander to the side of the head.

Corbett steadied himself. He sent a hard right to the ear and followed with a terrific left to the jaw and Sullivan sank helpless to the floor of the ring. He was not unconscious, but too exhausted to rise. The round lasted a little over a minute and a half.

So passed Sullivan, last of the old-time fighters.

Railway Service Wins Flag in Transportation League by Beating Tractions, 8-0

Applegate Hurls Effectively for Winners, Holding C., D. & M. Outfit Down to Few Scattered Hits in Play-Off Game at Lincoln Park

THE Railway Service team won the pennant in the Transportation League in a play off game with the Tractions at Lincoln Park last night. The final score was 8 to 0.

Applegate, pitching for the winners, had the Tractions at his mercy all during the game, holding them down to a few scattered hits. Kockensperger was the losing hurler.

Wilson, Kunkler, McCombs and Fetzer featured the hitting for the two teams in the game.

WESLEY WINS OVER LEE-ST PRESBYTERIANS

WESLEY, winner of Sunday School League No. 2 pennant, defeated Lee-st Presbyterians, 6 to 1 at the Steam Shovel grounds. Burke and Corwin were the hurlers. Trowbridge, Lasher, Ward and Richards were leading hitters.

ISALY PROTEST IS THROWN OUT

THE protest entered by the Isaly Dairies in connection with the game with the Business Men last Friday night was thrown out at a meeting of the Marion Baseball Commission last night.

This action leaves the Business Men in undisputed possession of the pennant in the Commercial League.

SPORT BRIEFS

SACRAMENTO, Cal — Gertrude Ederle, conqueror of the English channel, was wired a $5,000 offer Monday by Don Graff, Sacramento sportsman, for a 30 mile swim in the Sacramento river.

inseparable companions—

P. A. and jimmy-pipe joy
YES, indeed. Prince Albert and pipe-pleasure go together like "fair and colder," "Romeo and Juliet," "song and dance." Inseparable companions . . . in fair weather and foul. Wherever you see one, you see the other. Prince Albert means jimmy-pipe joy . . . precisely that!
P. A. is cool as picnic lemonade. Cool and consoling when problems press. Sweet and fragrant as wind-blown blossoms. Mild with a mildness that lets you smoke all you want, morning to midnight. Yet with sufficient body to let you know you are smoking. Nicely balanced!
You'll like the taste of this fine old pipe tobacco. More men have liked it than any other brand. This is a matter of record. Quality through and through. Real tobacco for real men. That's Prince Albert. Kind to your tongue and throat. Friendly in spirit and friendly in fact.
If you haven't smoked P. A., you can't possibly know how much deep-down satisfaction that old jimmy-pipe can give you. No matter how set you think you are, buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Tamp a load into your pipe and take a deep drag. Good? You said it!
P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Cardinals Take Lead in National Loop Pennant Race

Pirates Shoved to Second Place; Reds Renew Threat by Defeating Giants, 7-6

Comes from Behind and Trims Gotham Herd by Tying Count in Ninth and Winning Game in Tenth Inning; Indians Lose to Yankees

HE Pirates stepped down out of first place today making way for the St Louis Cardinals as the result of the old champions splitting a double bill with the Dodgers while the Red Birds were idle

The percentage stood St Louis 5798 Pittsburgh 5789

Wat Career making his debut against Pirates in a Brooklyn uniform hit safely three times drew two passes and scored runs in six appearances at the plate

There was an old tradition in major league baseball at one time that the team heading the league on July 1st or the mid point in the season when reached was the team that would win the pennant

Decided in Last Games

The old tradition was knocked out long ago Major league races nowadays are not decided until sometimes the last week of the schedule

This year in the National League looks as it happens to be any teams race with the pennant winner expected to be decided when the teams swing into the home stretch in the last week of September

The current week is expected to have much to do however with the pennant races in both the National and American Leagues

At the present time it happens that only three claimants to second place in the American League are engaged in a crucial series with the New York Yankees

Yanks Lead Tribe

In today's averages the Yanks are leading the Tribe by a matter of 10 points It means that the Ohioans have a big task before them in the present series It means that if the Indians fail to sweep the series with the league leaders it will probably be their last hope of ever winning the pennant race

In the National League the Cards are now leading the Pirates by a fraction of a point while the Reds are but a game and a half behind the pace

The Reds and the Giants are playing an all important series this week During the past two seasons the Giants have been a hoodoo to the Reds and failure to shake this jinx in the present series may cost the Redlegs their chance for the pennant The Reds got away to a good start yesterday by trimming the Giants

THE New York Giants generous souls that they are appear to be doing their share upon the Cincinnati Reds and lowered up a hit in the ninth inning with a three run lead in tow

The Reds seized time by the forelock and Greenfield by the belt buckle and ran the game to 10 innings and emerged victorious 7 to 6

Everything pointed to a Giant win up until that ninth inning

The Gotham herd had acquired a lead in the early part of the game when Rixey weakened in the fifth and Roy Meeker making his first start with the Reds was pounded freely in the seventh

A part of the crowd had already gone home when the ninth came along But the Reds are a desperate team when so much is at stake They have never been known to be great finishers like the Giants but anything is liable to happen in baseball

Greenfield opened the ninth badly by walking Christensen and then let him lift the second and third sack without any attempt to check the thefts Waite Lipp sacrificed Christy home Pinnich singled and went home on Fitzsimmons double The score was tied when Lindstrom threw wild to first on Harper's grounder to third

Jake Mayer went on the mound for the Reds and stopped the Giants in the tenth In the last half of the extra inning the Reds won as Walker singled and Christy beat out a bunt to first Pipp's single scored the winning run

It seems to be Dutch Leonard's luck always to be pitching good games in New York and seeing them lost For the second time this season Dutch allowed fewer hits than his adversary and he was beaten The Yanks beat him here Monday in the first game of the final 10-to inning double header 2 to 1 The second time Leonard pitched in New York he turned the tables on Thomas to win 5 to 3

Monday he faced Urban Shocker and allowed only five hits while he Yanks gathered seven off the New Yorker But Urban kept his hits widely separated while the Yanks bunched three of their five off Dutch in the fifth to win the game It was the second time Shocker has earned the decision over Leonard beating him 8 to 7 in Cleveland neither pitcher finishing

Shocker Earned It

Shocker earned his victory Monday however Both the Cleveland runs were due to errors the first on Graney's wild throw in the first inning and the second on Lamar's slip in the eighth

RECRUIT Alex Metzler was everything but bat boy for the Athletics yesterday He distinguished himself in the field by throwing out a runner at the plate in the fourth and in the eighth robbed Falk of an extra base hit by a race to the rear and a leaping catch His efforts cut off at least three runs and permitted Philadelphia to make it two straight over the White Sox the score being 4 to 1

A group of lusty gentlemen from Detroit went visiting to Boston yesterday and hard hit baseballs fell in hark sards all the way from Tremont Square to the Charles The Tigers piled up nine runs using up three Boston pitchers while Collins held the home team to eight hits and one run

Browns Trim Nats

Scoring four runs in one inning to break a tie the St Louis Browns drubbed the Senators 8 to 4 Poor defensive play on Washington's part provided that interesting inning for the visitors

Showing amazing versatility the Robins white washed the Pirates in the first game of their double header 7 to 3 then pulled a bush league stunt and missed everything that came along to lose the second 10 to 2

English professional cricketers playing in a championship match are paid $15 for the match while amateurs are allowed up to ten dollars a day for their expenses Both are in addition allowed their railway fares

HEAVY CHAMPION HOPES TO RENEW TRAINING GRIND

Jack Dempsey Takes Up New Quarters at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY N J Aug 24— Jack Dempsey considerable refreshed after a good night's sleep was about early this morning preparing for his first active day in what he hopes will be his last training camp before he fights with Gene Tunney on Sept 23

The champion has transferred Hendricks N C Colorado Springs and Saratoga N Y with railroad jumps in between but he declared on his arrival last night that the present break in training was just what he needed Barring bad weather he will work this afternoon at the local dog track where Luis Firpo finished his conditioning for his fight with the champion The latter accompanied by Mrs Estelle Taylor Dempsey Gene Normille and Floyd Fitzsimmons put up last night at the Hotel Ambassador but has rented a cottage near his training quarters

Dempsey was visibly tired upon his arrival He was given an ovation at the railroad station but was quickly whisked into a waiting cab with the rest of his party

I hope I'm free from process servers at last was his only comment I want to settle down and enjoy my training and I think I will from now on

PADDY CLAIMS HE WILL STOP BOUT

Boston Aug 24—Paddy Mullins manager of Harry Wills declared today

There will be no Dempsey Tunney fight in Philadelphia The champion will not fight anyone anywhere until he keeps his agreements to meet Wills I have one trump card—a contract signed by Dempsey to meet Wills in Chicago in September of this year This contract prevented the Dempsey Tunney battle in Chicago stopped it in New York and will play its part in the Philadelphia proceedings I have been offered $50 000 to surrender this piece of paper but I wouldn't take a million dollars for it

Wills is here for an exhibition bout with Jeff Clark

TRIANGLES BEAT WEST SIDE STARS BY 3 TO 2 SCORE

Shoemaker and McRill Feature in Great Hurling Duel

THE newly organized Marion Triangles shattered the winning streak of the West Side Stars last night by taking them the short end of a 3 to 2 count in a game played at the Marion Country Club Golf grounds (see right) The Stars had won 11 straight games previous to last night's tilt with the Triangles

The game was closely fought throughout with a hitting duel between Shoemaker of the Triangles and McRill of the Stars featuring Both allowed but six hits

The score was tied 2 to 2 at the beginning of the seventh inning when Cunningham singled and scored the winning run on Hattlmore's single to left

Ted Cunningham featured the defeating for the winners with several sensational catches Wynkoop Lemley and Hattlmore featured the hitting of the winners

The Stars will play the Bucyrus Stubblebakers at Bucyrus Thursday night

FINE BROTHERS $200 EACH ON LIQUOR COUNTS

Plead Guilty to Charges of Possession; Not Guilty to Transportation

Howard Thomas of this City, and his brother, Richard Thomas, of Jefferson City, Mo., were each fined $200 and costs late yesterday when they pleaded guilty before Justice M. O. Stolt to charges of possessing intoxicating liquor.

They were unable to pay the fines and were committed to County Jail.

The brothers pleaded not guilty to charges of transportation of liquor and were placed under a $500 bond, which they failed to provide. Hearing of the cases is set for Thursday afternoon.

The two young men were arrested *last Thursday night on the Agosta*rd by Deputies W. Dexter Hazen and Vane Ireland.

Charges Gross Neglect

Charging her husband with gross neglect and extreme cruelty, Mrs. May Fawley, of this city, today filed suit for divorce from her husband, Lester O. Fawley. The couple were married Dec. 31, 1903, and have three children.

Mrs. Fawley asserts that *her hus*band began four years ago to abuse her and finally left home March 1, 1926, failing to provide for her since that time. On various occasions he has returned to the home and threatened and abused her, she alleges.

Mrs. Fawley asks for the custody of the minor children and alimony.

License Issued

A marriage license was issued late yesterday afternoon to Edwin Leroy Bilsing, 22, Crestline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bilsing and Miss Ruth Maxine Belt, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Belt.

Partition Suit

Suit for partition of a lot in Marion in which he claims one-sixth interest has been filed by Mrs. Cora Blackwell of Marion. She names as defendants Edgar Tallman, Lena Tallman, and others. The property was formerly owned by her father, Warren Tallman, deceased.

The Citizens Building and Loan Co. is made party defendant in the action because of a mortgage held on the premises, the petition adds.

CANDIDATES' EXPENSE ACCOUNTS ALL FILED

Many Report Little or No Expenditures in Primary Election Campaign

All expense accounts of candidates for nomination to county offices in the August primary have been filed with the board of elections, it was announced today. Friday was the last day for the filing but several candidates failed to send in their papers on time.

Many of the candidates for office listed no expense accounts for the pri*mary election.*

John N. Rexroth, Republican nominee for county commissioner, filed the largest account. Rexroth spent $99.38 in his fight for the nomination.

John Abel, who defeated George E. Waddell in a close race for the Democratic nomination for county auditor, listed his expenses at $74.43. Waddell spent only $38.25.

Elmer Boyd, Republican nominee for county recorder, filed an expense account of $88. His opponent, David T. Foos, spent $10.05 in his campaign. Charles E. Smith, present county recorder and Democratic nominee for a second term, listed his expenses at $34.25.

Opposition to Repeal of Primary Law in Platform Submitted to Convention

Honest and Vigorous Enforcement of All Laws Advocated in Plans Before Democratic Delegates; Donahey and Pomerene and Their Records Praised

Columbus, Aug. 24—Advocacy of "honest and vigorous" enforcement of all laws, without fear or favor, and opposition to the repeal of the primary, featured the Ohio platform submitted to the democratic state convention here late this afternoon for adoption.

"We demand the prosecution of all *law violators, regardless of rank or sta*tion, political faith, financial or social standing, and we commend the administration of Governor Donahey in this respect," reads the platform as presented by the committee on platform and resolutions.

"We oppose a return to the boss controlled convention and defy the republican organization to declare its position openly on the attempt to deprive the people of the direct primary," the proposed platform reads.

The proposed democratic platform embraces planks praising the public records of Governor Vic Donahey and United States Senator Atlee Pomerene and urging their re-election.

Pledges "constructive, economic and efficient administration in every branch of state government," if the voters of Ohio will elect a complete democratic state administrative and legislative ticket.

Enforcement of such legislation as will remove any discrimination existing between the rights of men and women to serve on party committees, in state, district and county.

Opposes encroachments by the federal government upon the reserved rights of the state

"Despicable Traitor" Term Duffy Gives Vote Buyer

HIGHLIGHTS OF CONVENTION

Columbus, Aug. 24—Here are some of the highlights contained in the "keynote" address delivered by Chairman Thomas J. Duffy at the Democratic state convention at Columbus this afternoon:

"Popular government, or the rule of the people was never menaced by such insidious forces as threaten it today."

"Throughout the world there is a tendency to shackle liberty, throttle democracy and place tyranny at the helm in governmental affairs."

"The man, who, directly or indirectly, sells his vote is a despicable traitor to the flag but the man who directly or indirectly purchases the votes of his fellow citizens is a more despicable traitor."

"The use of large sums of money in political contests not only corrupts the minds of citizens because politicians who have such an amount of money at their command usually subsidize a portion of the press and put in circulation subtle, misleading, or poisonous propaganda."

*"Most of this money comes from in*dividuals, or corporations, who expect and receive special favors from the state or national government. Therefore, these slush funds mean corruption at the ballot box and corruption of government agencies.

"We want brains, conscience, courage, honesty, loyalty to predominate in American politics, not inlated money."

"Any man who is fit to be governor of Ohio and wants to serve the people, need not spend $50,000 to get a nomination."

"The last session of the Ohio legislature was dominated by lobbyists who represented the most unscrupulous public service corporations in the state."

"Is there not some significance in the fact that Harry L. Davis and his crowd favored and worked for the nomination of Mr. Cooper?"

"Honest men, who believe that government should give equal rights to all and special favors to none, will work and vote for the re-election of Vic Donahey."

"Stop the corrupt and reckless use of money in primary elections and there'll be less reason to find fault with the primary law."

"Senator Pomerene is honest, able and courageous. He has a mind and a will of his own and he uses both."

"The last democratic president, who served the nation in the world's greatest crisis, showed such vision and such ability that he outshone the statesmen of the entire world."

"Although he sleeps in an honored vault within the shadows of the nation's capitol, Woodrow Wilson is the guide and the inspiration of the best statesmanship in the world today."

FORD AGENT DENIES SIX-CYLINDER REPORT

Ed. C. Watters Tells of Interview with Head of Car Company

Ed. C. Watters, local authorized Ford dealer, today emphatically denied the report issued yesterday that there would be radical changes in the Ford in the near future, including possibly six cylinders instead of the usual four.

Mr. Watters while in Detroit last week had a personal interview with Henry Ford at the River Rouge plant. At this time he declares that Mr. Ford stated that he did not intend to build a six-cylinder car.

"Mr. Ford further announced," Mr. Watters claims, "that the Ford car of today was the best that he had ever produced and could see no need of changing the present model for a car of six cylinders."

The local dealer declares the false reports were started by interests not favorable to the Ford Motor Car Co.

"The report has not yet affected the output of the present Ford, it is said. A full force has been working the regular five-day schedule and have a production of about 7,000 cars every day.

MARION-MARYSVLLE-RD THROWN OPEN IN COUNTY

Only One Detour Remains; Dispute Over Newman's Crossing Unsettled

The Marion-Marysville-rd in Marion County was opened to public traffic today.

Only one detour remains on the much traveled pike. The detour leads the motorist through Richwood and lengthens the trip to Marysville by about four miles. The road taken by the detour into Richwood, State Route 68, is a wide gravel pike about two miles in length. It is considered one of the finest gravel roads in Central Ohio.

The detour through Richwood is necessary because of the condition of a mile strip in Delaware County and a two mile section of the regular route in Union County. The distance to Marysville through Richwood is approximately 32 miles while the direct route, if opened, is only 28 miles.

One point in the Marysville-Marion-rd in Marion County remains badly in need of repair. The point is Newman's crossing, eight miles south of the city.

Injunction

The C. D. & M. Electric Co. wishes the road to follow the present curved route at the crossing while the highway department and county commissioners wish to construct a direct path across the tracks. At present, the highway department is restricted by a court injunction from taking the course wanted.

It was intimated today by county commissioners that some action in the matter would be taken before the end of the week.

In throwing the road open in Marion County, county commissioners and the state highway department provide an excellent road from Marion to Prospect, Richwood, and Marysville.

With the opening of the pike, Colum*bus, traffic is directed through Prospect* and Radnor. All traffic to Springfield, Peyton, and other cities in the southern part will also be routed over the new section.

The road was closed more than a year ago for the reconstruction of a southern section measuring about two miles in length and the construction of a three mile stretch at the northern end of the pike.

The southern strip is built of concrete while the northern section is constructed of Kentucky rock asphalt. L. L. Klymer, contractor, of Bluffton, O., had charge of the work.

SON OF ANTI-SALOON OFFICIAL IS DROWNED

First Services of Mt. Gilead Presbyterian Church Held Nearly Century Ago in Forest

Rededication Services Next Sunday Offer Decided Contrast to First Gathering in Forest Glade; Plans for Presbyterian Week Are Nearing Completion

Mt. Gilead, Aug. 24—Rededication services scheduled for Sunday Aug. 29, as the next of Presbyterian Week, at the Mt. Gilead Presbyterian Church offer a decided contrast to the first services of the church, held in the forest in the county, 95 years ago, church records show.

Rev. Henry Shedd, coming to the location on horseback, and finding a straggling village of eight families living comely in log cabins, making up "Whetstone", which was the first name of the village, first organized the Mount Gilead Presbyterian Church, in 1831.

Whetstone, later renamed Mount Gilead by an act of legislature was then a part of Marion County, located in what was known as Morrow Township. Gilead Township was organized in June, 1835, and Morrow County was formed in February, 1848.

The first meetings held by Rev. Shedd, who came as a home mis*sionary, a member of the* presbytery of Newburyport, Mass., under the patronage of the American Home Missionary Society, consisted of regular preaching, Bible classes, and prayer meetings.

Besides meeting in the forest, the small congregation gathered at the home of Henry Ustick, or at his mill in Lewis Hardenbrook's barn, or in log cabins.

After being authorized at a meeting of the presbytery of Columbus, held there in October 1831, the first church building was erected in the old graveyard in the southeast part of Mt Gilead.

In 1857 an old building was purchased and moved to a lot on N. Cherry st, where the home of W. McFarland now stands. This was moved until 1905.

The old second branch of the church erected a building on the present location of the church in 1851 and was occupied by them, and later by the united old school and new school branches, until removed to make room for the present building.

The cornerstone of the present building was laid June 2 1883. The following persons constituted the committee on plans and building: Rev. W. S. Erickson, under whose leadership the building was created; J. H. Pollock, Dr. T. A. Goodes, P. J. Miller W. S. Irwin, Andrew Campbell, W. F. Blayney, H. W. Mosier and Dr. I. B. Yorkies.

During the pastorate of Rev. J. C. Mergler who served the church 1916 to 1918, plans were drawn and a campaign of education was started for the enlargement, improvement, new equipment and refinishing of the present structure. Active work was begun under the leadership of Rev. T. P. Ulom D. D., who served the pastorate from March to October, 1925.

Ministers of the gospel on the honor roll of the church include descendants of the founder, John A. Shedd and his son William A. Shedd who have spent their lives in the mission fields of Persia.

Others who have gone out from this church to become ministers are: Nelson A Shedd, William C. Miles, Frank H. Shedd, Edwin B. Haskins, Edward N McMillin and Frederick N. McMillin.

ONE CHILD CREDITED NORMAL AT CLINIC

Thirty Examined; Corrective Measures Are Suggested by Officials

Mt. Gilead, Aug. 24— Figures now completed and being sent out to parents of children examined in the recent Child Clinic held at Harris by the Morrow County Health Bureau, show that out of 30 children examined, only one was credited as normal.

The examination was conducted by Dr. J. T. Hartman of Cleveland and Miss Abbey and Mrs. Harpell from the State Department of Health. The clinic was held under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association and the local health commissioner. Dr. H L. Pierce.

Corrective measures suggested from the examination, as tabulated in the reports being sent to the parents, are as follows: surgical, 13; medical, 6; hygenic measures, 2; diet, 14; teeth, 2; tonsils, 6; goiter, 2; more sleep and rest, 3; vaccination, 6; normal, 1.

KENTON MINISTER TO BECOME EVANGELIST

Kenton, Aug. 24—After many years service as pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church here, Rev J. R. Robbins has tendered his resignation to enter the evangelistic field. More than five hundred members of his congregation heard his farewell sermon.

PROSPECT MAN TO TEACH IN WALDO THIS YEAR

Prospect, Aug. 24—Paul Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Smith, and a graduate of the Prospect High School of the class of 1922, will graduate from Ohio State University at Columbus, Friday, Aug. 27 with an A. B. degree. Mr. Smith will teach in the Waldo schools this coming year.

ATTEND FUNERAL AT GALION, OHIO

Woman's Body Brought to Mother's Home for Funeral Service

Caledonia, Aug. 24—Mrs Ella Timson and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lee attended the funeral of a niece of the late Charles Timson, Mrs. Myrtle Beck which was held at the home of her mother, Mrs. Will Kincaid at Galion Sunday.

Mrs. Beck, died at her home in Buffalo, N. Y., but due to the mother not being able to make the trip to Buffalo the body was brought to Galion for funeral services and then returned to Buffalo for burial.

WOMEN'S BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

Caledonia, Aug. 24—The Women's Bible class of the Methodist Church was entertained by Mrs. J. W. Lyon teacher of the class at her home northeast of town Friday.

This has been an annual affair for several years on the hostesses birthday. At the noon hour a bounteous dinner was enjoyed by nine members and one guest. After the dinner hour, Mrs. Lyon read from the 7th chapter of St. John and offered prayer. Several hymns were sung and each member contributed a miscellaneous reading.

It was decided to hold their picnic next year with Mrs. Ella Timson on the same date.

Those present were Mesdames Mell Miller, Wilson Tipton, Ella Timson, Will McKinstry, George Jackson, Frank Lyon, Minnie Anderson, Bennett Lyon and one guest Miss Margaret Lyon.

SLASHES THROAT IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Attending Physicians Say Kenton Farmhand Will Recover from Injuries

Kenton, Aug. 24—Henry Miller, 60, farm hand, who slashed his throat in believed attempt to end his life, is recovering in the McKitrick hospital here today, attending physicians say.

The attempt at self-destruction was made on the Tom Dearth farm, west of here, where Miller had lived and worked for several years. His serious form, weakened from the loss of blood, was found lying in the rear of the Dearth barn by members of the family upon their return from a picnic in a nearby grove.

Although Miller refuses to talk, his friends believe that he slashed his throat with a pocket knife during a period of despondency following many months of ill health and invalidism.

Upon leaving their home members of the Dearth family now recall Miller having bid them all farewell. No significance was attached to the remarks at the time, the family thinking that perhaps he intended visiting with friends on nearby farms.

Despite the fact that his condition is still serious, attending physicians are hopeful for his recovery. A blood transfusion, it was said, might be necessary.

KENTON MANAGER PLANS TOURNAMENT

Heart of Ohio League Nines To Meet At Lake Idlewild Park

Kenton, Aug. 24—Plans for a baseball tournament to be held at Lake Idlewild Park here at the close of the season in the Heart-of-Ohio League, are being arranged by Bert McFarland, manager of the Kenton Reds, league members.

McFarland is at present attempting to line up the leading teams in the Heart-of-Ohio League for the tourney. Besides the Reds, Marysville, Richwood and Prospect will be asked to play in the game series.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY FOR MT. GILEAD WOMAN

Mt. Gilead, Aug. 24—Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth Riley, aged 80, will be held this afternoon at Stantontown, with burial there in charge of Phillips and Son.

Miss Riley died at the Morrow County Home Sunday night, of senile gangrene of the foot.

She was born in Delaware County, and was a teacher for a large part of her life.

SIX-YEAR-OLD LAD HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Richwood, Aug. 24—The six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Epley, was injured Sunday when hit by an automobile driven by Miss Daisy Swartz. The child had been playing with other children on the opposite side of street, when he ran across street, was struck by the machine; no bones were broken, but he was cut and bruised. The Epley family was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Parish; Dr. H C. Duke was summoned and medical attention given.

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Ho Buster where are you called Lime Fuzzy Wuzzy as she stood e doorway of the hollow stump l w one day

Buster did not answer

How about you Custer went on Squirrel lady housekeeper Custer did not answer

Ho Jingle! Jangle Scooter Toot! Where are you all went on Miss Wuzzy

But none of the little children bun answered for they were off play the woods and fields making t of vacation time since in a s recess school would open again

Excuse me for mentioning it but s is no help for it I know you like to think about it but never Next summer will soon be here Dear me murmured Nurse Jane e went back in the bungalow What am I going to do

What is the matter asked Uncle Wiggily who was getting ready to hop s to look for an adventure Miss na e the pleasure of doing anything for you Nurse Jane

I need some white soap chips to ch out some fine dresses for your ie explained Nurse Jane I am busy or I would go to the store elf and get the chips

I ll go offered Uncle Wiggily It l bring me an adventure

It is kind of you spoke the mu k lady Bring me a large package white soap chips

Soon Uncle Wiggily was on his way sing a merry tune and sunnily ubbing his pink nose up at the s k It did not take him long to the pasteboard box of soap chips ich were as light and fluffy as athers

It is a hot day said Uncle Wig ly to himself on the way home so will just go back by way of the mming hole and take a dip Then laughed to think what might hap n if he took the box of soap chips swimming with him They would ake a lot of foam and bubbles enough fill a giants pool chuckled the an

He soon reached the swimming hole d was about to take a dip in the ol water when all of a sudden he ard and saw a rustling in the bushes here he was going to hide his clothes

Ah ha said Uncle Wiggily to him If That may be the Fox the Wolf one of the bad chaps waiting to e my coat and vest so I can t go me after my swim I must be care-

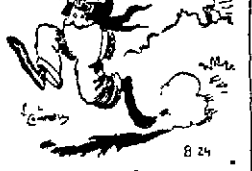
Uncle Wiggily looked carefully at the bush and beneath it he saw the Skul Jery Scaller Alligator with the double pointed tail

All this is no place for me about ed the bunny and he began to run But the Gator saw the rabbit and came wadding after him calling Wait Stop! Hold on I want you and all manner of things like that

But Uncle Wiggily never stopped Instead he ran all the faster However the Gator waddled very fast also and he had almost caught up to the funny gentleman and was just reaching out a claw to grasp Mr Longears by his short little tail when all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily stubbed his toe on a stone

He stubbed his toe and fell and as he fell the box of white fluffy soap chips bounced out of his paws and striking on a sharp rock broke and scattered all over in an instant the air was filled with white flakes in a cloud

Burr Wow Woggie boggie



Stop! Hold on! I want you!

howled the surprised Gator Snow in the summer time This is most remarkable Uncle Wiggily must be a magician He must turn me into a postage stamp I d better run

And run away the bar chap did thinking the soap chips was summer snow Uncle Wiggily heard what the Gator said and the bunny laughed to himself as he picked himself up and then picked up the soap chips which he took home to Nurse Jane

Thank you said the mishra lady as she started to wash

Pray don t mention it laughed Uncle Wiggily I had a wonderful adventure And if the darning needle doesn t get an eye full of water when it looks up at the sky to see if it s raining I ll tell you real about Uncle Wiggily and the turkeys tent

When Is a Vacant House NOT a Liability?

One answer—when it is advertised for rent among Star Classified Rental Ads, and rented so quickly that no income is lost!

The Rental columns in this section produce results so consistently that hundreds of local folks depend on them entirely to keep rental property filled.

To place a Classified Ad on YOUR vacant room, home or apartment, ask for BETTY BROWN or an Ad-Taker when you call 2314.

RAILWAY AND MOTOR ISSUES LEAD IN RALLY

Few of Specialty Stocks Join in Upward Movement of Prices

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds slightly lower; foreign bonds irregular; call money 4½ per cent; grain steady; copper steady; oil irregular; cotton steady; rubber irregular; sugar steady; pig iron steady; foreign exchange steady.

New York, Aug. 24—Stocks of American railroad and motor manufacturing companies were the leaders in a moderate rally in prices on the New York Stock Exchange today.

A few of the specialty stocks joined the upward movement, but the market as a whole was dominated by professional trading, and price movements were confusing.

The rise in the northwestern railroad stocks brought prices in that group to the peak of the year, and was based on the recent favorable reports of freight traffic and earnings in their territory. Northern Pacific sold at 80 for the first time since 1923, while Great Northern preferred also exceeded this year's best previous record. Chicago Greatwestern preferred and common stocks enjoyed a good market while St. Paul stocks responded to announcement that a strong bondholders' committee would purpose the property if necessary, in order to avert losses to the security holders.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

After passing out of the local fruit markets several weeks ago, strawberries of the homegrown ever-bear variety, reappeared and sold at a rare post-seasonable quotation.

Only a few markets displayed the berries. The general price today was 30 cents a quart.

Blackberries were holding their own. This last berry of the season is expected to exit in a short time, however. Some dealers were selling their variety at 17 1-2 cents a quart. The general price was 20 cents a quart.

Okra was announced by local dealers for the first time this season. The price set on the vegetable was 15 cents a pound.

Pimentos were selling at three for 10 cents in most of the markets today. Peppers were also heralded at the same quotation and were abundant. Mangoes were lowered and sold at a price of 25 cents a dozen, the lowest of this season.

Plums were today occupying a prominent place on the lists of the local fruit houses. Several varieties were evident and sold at various prices. The most seller was the homegrown small plum which was marked at 35 cents for a two-pound basket. A larger basket was selling for 35 cents.

Homegrown cantaloupes were available today in nearly all the markets at 25 cents and 35 cents. A better grade was less abundant and was selling at 40 cents each.

Tip top melons were ready on the local counters and were marked to sell at 35 cents. Other melons went at 15 cents each.

To Gas Consumers

On account of repairs on the main line the gas will be turned off on Thursday, August 26th at one o'clock P. M. and turned on again when repairs are made, which should not be later than two o'clock.

This may not affect Marion, but to avoid accidents be sure to turn gas off before going away or leaving premises.

Be sure to turn off all valves when gas goes out and leave them turned off until gas is turned on again.

Dot not forget the hot water tank.

WORK IS STARTED ON MARION - DELAWARE - RD

Section of Highway in Front of Harding Monument Being Improved

Work of lowering, widening and regrading that section of the Marion-Delaware rd which passes in front of the Harding Memorial lot under way today The road was blocked at 6 o'clock this morning when the contractors P Drake & Sons started to tear up the highway

In front of the Harding Memorial for a distance of 1,170 feet the road will be widened to 54 feet It is to be constructed of like asphalt with a concrete base

Detour signs were erected late yesterday directing the southbound traffic through Prospect and Radnor to Delaware Northbound motorists detour at Norton to the Waldo Prospect rd and turn north on the Gooding Basin pk county into Marion on the Prospect rd

Work on the highway was to have started over a month ago but due to the delay in the letting of the contract it was impossible for any contractor to begin the construction of an earlier date than Drake and Sons

Disappearance of Cookies Still Shrouded in Mystery

Mystery still surrounds the sudden disappearance of 400 cookies sent Tuesday by the W C T U to the Marion County boys at Camp Perry

A check up today failed to reveal any clew to the strange case

No word has yet been received by the W C T U from members of Company D or Howitzer Company in connection with the cookies It is believed that they were never received leaders of the W C T U said today

Other members of the organization are said to hold different views

The pastries were last seen a week ago in Marion when the women of the W C T U packed the eats in a carton labeled the box plainly and sent it on its way

According to Capt Carl F Ebert in a letter to the Star 60 men in his company are still waiting anxiously for the arrival of the much anticipated pastries

The 'boys' break camp Wednesday and may conduct investigations in an effort to discover the cause of the misfortune

No reward has yet been offered for the recovery of the cookies but an air of mystery and curiosity is said to prevail over the camps of the Marion County boys

"Are you getting full benefits from electric power?"

Power—Power—Power

Power more power still more power—such is the insatiable demand of expanding life and industry The people of the United States are using as much electrical current as all the remaining countries in the world—yet every year sees the demand expanding
